

Statement from the Anglican Archbishop of Sydney, Dr Peter Jensen, in support of the aims of Micah Challenge Australia

“What does the Lord require of you but to do justice, to love kindness and to walk humbly with your God.”

These words, which provide the platform rationale for Micah Challenge, were first spoken by the 8th Century BC prophet Micah. They are as challenging to us twenty-first people today as they were to those of Micah’s own time.

The call to commit ourselves to helping to work towards achieving the Millennium Development Goals by 2015 may seem an impossible dream, but unless people of goodwill throughout the global community demonstrate a commitment of determined obedience to biblical teaching on justice and compassionate care, then to our shame, there will always be those who are without hope.
